New York, Oct. 24 - "I married this girl imply became I wanted to get money to give me $20, which I needed to take me through a dental college. But I repaid the money, getting it from the mother of the girl who is my second wife.

This was the novel reason given by Doc-or Benjamin Glickstein, who is 21 years old, for having made his first marriage when he was arraigned before Judge Foster, in General Sessions Court, yesterday, charged with bigamy. It was four years ago, when he was 17 years of age, that he became acquainted with Mrs. Blasenstein and her daughter, "Gussie" who was a year his junior, and by ame very fond of him. The mother say became very fond of him. The mother saw this and told the roung man she would give him money to take him through college if he would marry her dailghter.

He agreed to this, but he said that, on the day of the marriage, he and his wife had a violent quarrel and he left her. They did not live together afterward. He met Bertha Klein of No. 14 East One Hundrel and Eighteenth street a few years later, and, despite the fact that he had not been divorced, he made her his second wife.
He told his second mother-in-law of his debt to Mrs. Blasenstein, refraining, however, from informing her that he had been married before. Mrs. Klein told him she did not wish him to be in debt to any one, gave him the cash and he handed it over to Mrs. Blasenstein, getting a receipt for it.

This aroused the woman's suspicion, and, as a result of her inquiries, she learned of his second marriage, and his arrest followed.

His told the Judge that, while he was guilty of bigarny from a legal standpoint, no harm had come to the young woman who was his first wife, as she had agreed to release him from all obligations as her inshand as soon as he regald the money. He was remanded until Monday.

HOGS RUN TO DEATH BY WOODPECKERS.

Trained to Go to Be Fed at Sound of Pounding on Board. They Came to Grief in Woods Pasture.

Harrisburg, III., Oct. 24.-William Mc-Parland, a wealthy and prominent Wabosh County farmer, lost a drove of fifty fine blooded bogs a few days ago in a most peculiar manner. Though the story may sound somewhat "fishy," it is nevertheless true and vouched for by any number of his neighbors.

Some time ago Mr. McFarland lost his voice and he was unable to call his great drove of bogs in which he took great pride, but he bridged over the difficulty by training them to respond at feeding tim to the sound of his pounding on a hoard. In time they became thoroughly accus
